

Decolonizing Family Law through Trauma-Informed Practice

with Haley Hrymak & Myrna McCallum

This webinar is for lawyers, law students, advocates, or anyone working with people in the family court system. We will discuss Rise's research in the ways that colonial law is harmful for Indigenous clients, and provide recommendations on how to decolonize family law. If you work with clients going through family legal matters, we encourage you to attend to learn about trauma-informed practice, and how it can improve your practice, for yourself and your clients.

DATE: Tuesday 30 March

TIME: 9:00 – 10:30 am

FEE: Free of charge

CPD: This webinar is pre-approved for 1.5 hours of CPD credit by the Law Society of BC

REGISTRATION: Please click this link to register in advance. Log in details will be sent to registered participants in advance of the webinar.

https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_JNe8MoEHQ1CKkXuo-GK9Yg

QUESTIONS? Contact Haley Hrymak at hhrymak@womenslegalcentre.ca

WOMEN'S LEGAL CENTRE